Suspect in burglary is arrested after chase

A burglar who robbed the residence of Katrinka Ross on Revis Road last Friday night was apprehended the following morning by West Liberty Police officers after an E-911 caller reported a suspicious person inside a store at Index. The description of the man fitted that of the burglary suspect, who had eluded State Police and county officers the previous night, and Dispatcher Jackie Mayberry dispatched Patrolman Michael Haney and Assistant Chief Wayne Lewis to the area.

The suspect, who had fled the left the area when the officers arrived at the store, was later located in a cornfield near the State Highway Garage and ignored the officers' order to stop. Following a brief foot pursuit, Patrolman Haney caught up with the suspect, who was arrested after a brief struggle in which

School board meets; school starts Aug. 10

By Miranda Cantrell James

The Morgan County Board of Education held a special meeting on Thursday, July 27, to discuss an agreement with the state transportation cabinet regarding road construction at the new Morgan Central Elementary School.

Superintendent of Schools Joe Dan Gold said the agreement allows the transportation cabinet to reimburse $167,957.82 to the school board for necessary road work at the school.

"We are constructing turn lanes to accommodate access roads to the new school," Gold said. "As soon as this resolution is available, the transportation cabinet will give the contractor, Frederick & May, authorization to start the project."

In other news, Gold announced the new school year will begin on Thursday, Aug. 10 for students, with teacher inservices on Aug. 7 and 8.

Gold also said all school employees are invited to the annual employee appreciation breakfast on Aug. 9. The breakfast is sponsored by Morehead State University at West Liberty, the West Liberty Chamber of Commerce and the Morgan County Board of Education.

Readifest for all students slated this evening at MCHS

There will be a 2006 Back to School Readifest for all Morgan County students from head start to 12th grade from 4-7 p.m. this evening (Thursday) at Morgan County High School.

School supplies will be given by many community businesses, organizations, churches and the Morgan County Board of Education.

Other services include free kids care photo IDs, haircuts, blood pressure and glucose tests, food, school immunizations, drug awareness workshops and activities for children. Sports physicals will be given at the mobile health unit for $5.

West Liberty Fire Dept. unveils new uniforms

By Miranda Cantrell James

The West Liberty Volunteer Fire Department unveiled its new uniforms on Saturday at IGA's Kids Fest, where department vehicles were also on display.

West Liberty Fire Chief John Conley said the uniforms, which members received at a special meeting last Friday evening, will be worn at special community events, including firefighters' funerals.

"We want to improve fire services by being more visible in the community," Conley said. "These uniforms will help us do that, as well as boost department morale."

Conley said he hopes community visibility will draw more volunteers to the department.

"We are trying to get more people interested in what we do," Conley said. "We would love to have more community involvement; new members are always welcome."

Upcoming department events include the Morgan County Sorghum Festival in September, and fire training this winter. For more information, contact Conley at 743-3468.

Mrs. Juanita M. Frederick, local businesswoman, passes

West Liberty businesswoman Juanita May Frederick died Thursday, July 27. She was 80 years old.

Until illness prevented it, Mrs. Frederick assisted her husband, Grover, manage Frederick and May Lumber and Construction Company, one of Eastern Kentucky's premier lumber and construction businesses, which they founded in West Liberty in 1946.

The matriarch of a large and prominent family, she was a member of the Lacy Creek Church of Christ, the Order of Eastern Star, the Morgan County Historical Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, and the Girl Scouts.

She will be remembered in many Morgan County families for her acts of kindness and support in their times of need.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday at the Morgan County High School gymnasium. Mrs. Frederick's full obituary is published elsewhere in this edition.

Loss of fed. grant will leave hole in pgm. for medically uninsured

Pgm. provides needy in area counties with access to medical care

NOTE: The Eastern Kentucky Medical Clinic, which provides medical services to underserved residents in Morgan, Wolfe, and Lawrence counties under the auspices of St. Joseph Hospital in Lexington, is not connected with the Healthy Communities Access Program and will continue to operate its mobile clinics at schools in the three clinics.

On Jan. 31, 2007, the Kentucky counties of Bath, Morgan, Menifee, Estill and Powell will lose a valuable federal grant program that was funded to Gateway Community Services Organization in West Liberty, and Foothills Community Action Partnership in Richmond.

The Healthy Communities Access Program was funded to assist in these medically underserved communities by coordinating health services for the uninsured and underinsured and providing nutritional education with a mobile RV unit.

Does losing such funding really mean anything to these counties? If results speak to success, this program will leave behind many clients who have been helped, and many more who will never have that opportunity.

In each county, $10,000 has been spent in sending over 100 uninsured and underinsured individuals to doctors, dentists, optometrists and other medical specialists, as well as purchasing needed short-term medications. The mobile RV unit has been used in Bath, Morgan and Menifee counties in partnership with local extension agents and the health department personnel to provide nutrition education covering topics such as diabetes, obesity, healthy food choices, etc.

Individual counties have had the services of benefits counselors who assisted clients to find the medical services they needed. But the services these counselors offered did not end at getting a client to a doctor. In many cases, the coordinators worked to provide long-term prescription assistance, assistance with Medicare Part D applications, and make referrals to other services that could pro-

Development plans and goals discussed at meet

By Miranda Cantrell James

The City of West Liberty and the Morgan County Fiscal Court conducted a Strategic Development meeting on Monday night in the city council meeting room at City Hall.

The meeting, which was open to the public, was scheduled to discuss planning for a Flex-E grant awarded to the city and county by the Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC).

Bryan Kirby, a representative of the consulting firm Community and Economic Development Associates, led public officials and concerned citizens in a discussion of community strengths and weaknesses, which will be used to help acquire funding for projects from ARC.

"This grant is for planning purposes," Kirby said. "A similar strategy was also implemented to revitalize downtown Olive Hill, which made the town eligible for more grants and additional funding."

Listed among community strengths were advances in local business, health care, employment, education, housing, technology and tourism. Other strengths included civic-minded citizens, volunteerism and abundance of land resources.

Morgan County Judge Executive Tim Conley presented a list of potential future strengths during the meeting, including $600,000 to purchase property for a parking garage in West Liberty.

"We will be working with LKLP and the state transportation cabinet to build a parking garage that will serve the downtown area," Conley said. "This project will cost approximately $5 million, and will be funded by the transportation cabinet and U.S. Rep. Hal Rogers."

Other potential strengths included plans to repair substandard curves on highways 460 and 172 in the next two years, and to build a new courthouse in 2008.

"Morgan County has been moved up to number 10 on the new courthouse list," Conley said. "We should be receiving state funding for the courthouse in 2008. The cost of this project is approximately $12 million."

Community weaknesses listed were lack of jobs, youth activities, assisted living facilities, mass transportation and rental housing. Other weaknesses included illegal drugs, insufficient emergency services and a low median county income.

Kirby said many of these weaknesses can be corrected.

"We must put together our strengths and weaknesses and prioritize them,"

JOHN SWIFT'S SILVER

Fact or Fiction

In Wolfe County, citizens are preparing for the annual John Swift Silver Mine Festival and Homecoming in Campton. The event is slated for the Labor Day weekend. As always at this time of the year, the thoughts of many turn to the Swift Silver Mine legend in which the wilds of what is now Wolfe County play a large role. According to the legend, John Swift cached fortunes in silver, supposedly mined in the mid-1700s in the wilderness of Eastern Kentucky, in what is now Wolfe and Powell counties. Many stories have been told that lend credence to the stories of Swift and his compatriots who returned to "the mines" for a number of years until trouble with Indians and disputes among Swift's party forced them to leave the area for good. Reprinted here is a story related to Wolfe County News editor JB Stamper by his father.

By J B Stamper

This story was told to me by my father who was working in the oil fields for the Petroleum Exploration Co. in the Peach Tree Hollow area in the 1930s.

Living there at the mouth of Peach Tree Creek was an old man named Peter Johnson (maybe) who told a story about Indians in the area about the time or just before the start of the Civil War.

"Mr. Johnson said, "One fall day and late in the evening when the shadows were long in the hollow, I was just a small boy then, maybe eight or nine, but I remember it well, because my mother called to us (the children) to come to the house as horsemen was coming. Father was away from home, maybe to Irvine on land business, and she was fearful of strangers as there had been trouble in the area over land boundaries.

"As we stood near Mother, eight Indians leading two pack mules each came into sight and caused great fear in us all. They did not threaten us in any way but continued on up the hollow from our house. They were a fearful looking bunch, with all kinds of dress, and carrying guns, long guns, across their laps in front of them as if they would use them if needed.

"We huddled in our house that night, knowing the Indians were in Peach Tree Hollow, for there was no other place to go up there. And being fearful of that bunch of Indians, all day the next day we stayed in the yard and watched for Father and the Indians, but no sign of either one all day and another wakeful night was spent indoors.

"After about the third day, we became a little easier in our minds that the Indians meant us no harm and Father could be home any time to help in case of trouble. We knew the Indians were still in Peach Tree Hollow. At night there was talk of maybe they had killed Father, and sometimes fear almost shook our bones.

"On the fourth or fifth day we boys decided to spy on the Indians and see what they were up to, and if they meant us any harm before they left. We wondered if they were going to claim our land, as mother had decided they were Cherokee, and we had been told the Cherokee once owned this land.

"As we tried to do our spying on the Indians, one or more always found us out. Long before we got very far up the hollow, they would step out of the trees with their guns in their hands and just stand there looking at us without saying a word. Being fearful of what they might do, we always returned home quickly. After several spying ventures on the Indians and always being found out and confronted by one or more of the fearsome devils we decided they were better at spying than we were and whatever they were up to was none of our business and we had better leave them alone. Besides we couldn't find out anything anyway.

"We still thought something bad had happened to Father but had decided the Indians hadn't done him in or they would have done us in by this time, and they hadn't threatened us any.

"On about the ninth or tenth day, early in the morning while the fog was still near the ground, we heard horses coming down the hollow and Mother and we stood in the doorway and on the stoop and watched them Indians coming by our house.

"They were still a fearsome looking bunch to me. They still carried them guns, long guns across in front of them. Each Indian led two pack mules and each mule had a full load looked like, with two sacks tied across the pack saddle, not big sacks but you could tell they were heavy by the way they hung on the saddle.

"Being sure all the Indians were gone, we ventured up Peach Tree Hollow to see what in the heck the Indians were up to, but we didn't find anything, although we looked hard.

"Father returned home after a few days and said he had to go on to Richmond in search of titles. When we told him of the fearsome Indians, he went with us up the hollow in search of their "diggings" as he said. Search as we may, and we made several trips and looked for ways in which they may have walked out of Peach Tree Hollow and done their "digging" somewhere else, we found no path or trail of any kind. In one place, part way up the hill toward the cliffs, there was a large rock, blue in color with some scratch places on one side. Father said it looked to him like the rock had been moved and then replaced back again. But look as hard as we could, we couldn't see any way to move that rock, and if the Indians did, how did they do it?

"We always planned to one day find a way to move that rock or dig under it, for we were sure the Indians dug something up in Peach Tree Hollow. I am an old man and I know what I saw, I saw them Indians leave Peach Tree Hollow with sacks of something loaded on pack mules. I don't know where they came from, but in later years someone said they were from Oklahoma and had been seen near the bluffs at the river west of here.

"I'm telling you boys this because you're young, and can search up that hollow, and maybe find what the Indians found. They must have already known where they were going when they came here."

Scandal So Unnecessary

By Todd Duvall

It was so unnecessary.

That is what I keep thinking about the personnel initiative to get Republicans into state merit and non-merit system jobs after Gov. Ernie Fletcher took office in December 2003.

It is that initiative, of course, that ended in Fletcher's indictment here on misdemeanor charges, and likely will doom any chance Fletcher has of winning re-election to a second term next year.

Just so unnecessary.

When you read the e-mails and memos written by top administration officials about the personnel initiative, you get the idea they were in a full-court panic to move Republican supporters into jobs held by Democrats.

Of the thousand or so higher-level administrative positions in state government, that is no problem. Those non-merit employees serve at the pleasure of the governor and may be fired for just about any reason.

When the first Republican governor took office in three decades, those non-merit administrators went about putting Republicans into jobs covered by the merit system job protection that led to the special grand jury, indictments, pardons and Fletcher's political doom.

Again, entirely unnecessary.

With a little bit of patience — and a thorough reading of the merit system statutes — the administration could have given out jobs to thousands of Republicans who qualified for those jobs.

The state bureaucracy is not some huge monolithic entity that is forever frozen and static. On any given day, there are hundreds of job openings posted on state computers, lists maintained by the personnel cabinet.

State employees die and retire. They get of the paperwork and quit, or they get a promotion into a new position. They go to work for other state governments, or for local governments around Kentucky. They get offers from the private sector they cannot refuse.

The Judge's Corner

By Tim Conley
Judge Executive

Hello from Judge Tim Conley and Staff:

When I first took office in 2003, I received a letter from a good friend who said "Take your time and build the future of Morgan County at a pace that everyone can keep up with." I have spent many ours over the past three years thinking about this. A couple of weeks ago, I stopped at the Elkfork Post Office and it was neat and clean and the postmistress, Florence Gilliam, was so kind and helpful it made me start thinking about what a fast-paced world we live in. We need the modern world to build our future, but occasionally we need a place to remember our heritage.

I would like to list a few of these places across Morgan County.

First of all there is nothing like a cemetery meeting with dinner on the ground to bring you back to your roots. I attended the Montgomery meeting in July where my great-grandparents, Milt and Missouri Sparks, Uncle Curt and Aunt Vernie Montgomery are buried. The ladies set a table that could have fed a multitude of people.

When I am in District 2 I like to stop at Betty's Grocery or Gilliam's Store for a diet Pepsi and a snack, and you can buy fishing bait to go on up to Paintsville Lake. Sometimes, I will sit in Ison's Grocery and eat a bologna sandwiches or chicken stir fry and visit with neighbors and friends as they are coming and going.

The management and staff of The Courier Publishing Company mourn the passing last week of Richard D. Stamper, a retired employee of The Wolfe County News whose widely-read column, "Only My Opinion," was a regular feature in The News and in this newspaper.

His observations on the passing scene and human foibles, including his own as well as those of his fellowmen, were at once, shrewdly perceptive, compassionate, sometimes wry and piquant, but always humorous and usually down right funny.

He loved and often wrote about the simple pleasures of life, his family and friends, his dog. He loved his country and was unabashedly patriotic. His convictions on the right and wrong of things were unequivocal and often strongly and perceptively put in his columns. His last column is published elsewhere on this page.

He was a valued employee and a friend. He wrote good copy and he is sadly missed. —EWK

Only My Opinion!

By Richard Stamper

Ever watch some of these shows on TV about archaeology? You know, where some archaeologist digs up an old foot bone of a dinosaur and figures out what the whole animal looked like? Did you ever wonder what they'll dig up from our civilization thousands of years from now? Just suppose that we so completely disappear that the only thing they can find of our civilization is a single penny. What could the experts tell about us from the lowly penny?

At first glance, they could tell that we knew about metals, because it is perfectly round and struck with fine detail. Looking at the front, they would know that we enjoyed art, because there is the picture of a man. From this picture they would know what mankind looked like and the size and shape of our upper body. Above the picture they would find the words "IN GOD WE TRUST." From this, they would know that we had a written language as well as a spoken language. They would also know that we trusted, or had faith in one God, not several Gods.

To the right of the picture are four numbers 1994. From this they could tell that we understood advanced math, also that we had an accurate calendar and were aware of the passing of time. To the left of the picture is the word "LIBERTY" which might let them know about something that we value very much and something about all human spirit.

On the other side of the penny is the picture of a building. From this they would know that we built permanent homes, we were not nomads. They would also be able to study our architecture from this picture. They would find that we built things to last, because we thought that our way of life would go on forever.

Below the picture is written "one cent." From this, future experts could figure out that we could write numbers as well as words. Above the building is written, in very fine print, "E PLURIBUS UNUM", which might tell them that more than one language was spoken. It would also let them know that we had a sense of history, because this is Latin and Latin is a language from our past. If they can decipher "E PLURIBUS UNUM" they will find that it reads "One of many." Then they'll know that we made many pennies, not just one. On the top of the back of the penny, it reads, "UNITED STATES OF AMERICA." From this, future people should know that there were many independent states, but they were united, bound together by a common bond and belief into one nation of America.

All this and more can be told from the single lowly penny. If you really look at common things, a lot can be learned. So really look at life; don't drive down the road and not see the trees.

Letters To The Editor

WITCHCRAFT: ANOTHER VIEW

NOTE: The following letter is addressed to Joe Nickell, whose "Historical Notes" column is a regular feature in this newspaper.

Dear Joe:

I enjoyed your "historical sketch" printed in the July 13, 2006, edition about witchcraft beliefs in early Morgan County and even looked up the Old Testament citations you provided. There is, however, a different way to look at the story you related.

In my view, that tale is purely Cherokee in origin and not old world. Witchcraft and sorcery tales were common with Shawnee, Delaware, and no doubt other regional Indian nations, but it seems Cherokee to me. The Scotch-Irish settlers were themselves superstitious, which either complicates the origin of such stories or helps explain their ready acceptance in the frontier world where so much Indian culture permeated the frontier culture.

A prior "historical sketch" noted that "Black John" Nickell and my ancestor, "Black Andy" Nickell were half Indian. The Licking Valley Courier published a photo of Preacher Joe Nickell, whose Indian features were obvious. Indian features were obvious in my father, Kelse Risner, and his father, Isaac Shelby Risner.

Nonetheless, my grandfather concealed from my father the Indian heredity to "protect" the family from anti-Indian prejudice. Dad didn't learn of it until my brother married a woman with significant Cherokee heredity and Grandfather told him that he, too, had Indian blood. When I was young, more than once I asked my father how "Black Andy" and "Joe Darkey" Nickell got their names and each time was given a "Black Irish" story. That story was not true, but we didn't know until Grandfather "fessed" up.

Many other early settlers had Indian wives or otherwise absorbed Indian culture. Discovering cultural remnants at this point is not only an interesting but a valuable exercise because it sheds light on our true history and helps erase the effects of prejudices of the past.

I may be wrong in my interpretations, but I doubt it. Reread the story and ask yourself if the shaman or witch doctor and the goose that shot the resting man with a navy bean doesn't fit Indian culture better than European Scottish-Irish culture.

Sincerely,
William J. Risner,
Tucson, Arizona

QUESTIONS ABOUT SHOOTINGS

To The Courier:

My name is Kathryn Frasure. My son, Bobby Joe Gayheart, and my grandson, Bobby Joe, Jr., Gayheart, were murdered at a cabin in Morgan County on June 18, 2006. I would like to know what happened to my son and grandson. Jim Gayheart called them up to go strip slippery elm and dig yellow root. Jim Gayheart came and got them/ According to Detective Paul Lemaster, Jim Gayheart said their murders were self defense and no arrest was made. So, Bobby Joe and Bobby, Jr., were shot. Bobby, Jr., was shot straight through the chest, piercing his aorta. He was dead instantly. However, my son, Bobby Joe, was shot in the back. How is shot in the back self defense?

I understand I will probably never know what exactly happened that night, although it seems to me an arrest should have been made. Jim Gayheart explained that there had been an altercation. However, he was the only one who had a .357 Colt. My son and grandson had no way out of the hollow and no guns. Bobby Joe's pocket knife was returned by the coroner. It had never left his jeans pocket. To me, it sounded like an unfair altercation. All three boys, Jim Gayheart, Bobby Joe Gayheart, and Bobby Joe, Jr., Gayheart, have had records of violence, DUIs, and drinking. I know that when Bobby and Bobby, Jr., were sober they would help anybody they could. Bobby Joe and Bobby, Jr., were loved.

So, how did a trip to a step-brother and uncle's cabin turn to murder? I have talked with both detectives about that night. The only reply I get is, "The case is still under investigation and no arrest was made because of evidence at the scene." I don't understand how Bobby Joe and Bobby, Jr., are going to get a fair shake in this investigation because they are dead and can't tell their side. So, to all of the individuals who are working on this case, please don't let my son and grandson be forgotten.

If anybody knows anything or hears about what happened that night, please call the Kentucky State Police or write me at 35030 Silo Road, Langesville, Ohio 45741.

Notice to Customers of Kentucky Power Company Proposed changes to the Environmental Surcharge Tariff

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on July 28, 2006, Kentucky Power Company (KPCo) will file with the Kentucky Public Service Commission (the Commission) in Case No. 2006-00307 an Application pursuant to Kentucky Revised Statutes 278.183 for authorization to make changes to the environmental surcharge for customer bills rendered on and after August 28, 2006 in accordance with proposed changes to Tariff E.S. KPCo is requesting the Commission to approve the proposed changes to the Tariff E.S. This tariff contains the environmental surcharge ratemaking formula and other terms and conditions. The proposed changes, if approved, will allow KPCo to apply a surcharge to all customer bills rendered on and after August 28, 2006 to recover additional cost of complying with the Federal Clean Air Act and other federal and state or local environmental requirements which apply to coal combustion wastes and by-products from facilities utilized for the production of energy from coal in accordance with KPCo’s environmental compliance plan.

The full terms and conditions and ratemaking formula of Tariff E.S. are set forth below:

APPLICABLE

RATE

1. The environmental surcharge shall provide for monthly adjustments based on a percent of revenues equal to the difference between the environmental compliance costs in the base period as provided in Paragraph 3 below and in the current period according to the following formula:

Monthly Environmental Surcharge Factor =
$$\frac{\text{Net KY Retail } E(m)}{\text{KY Retail } R(m)}$$

Where:

Net KY Retail E(m) = Monthly E(m) allocated to Kentucky Retail Customers, net of Over/(Under) Recovery Adjustment; Allocation based on Percentage of Kentucky Retail Revenues to Total Company Revenues in the Expense Month.
(For purposes of this formula, Total Company Revenues do not include Non-Physical Revenues.)

KY Retail R(m) = Kentucky Retail Revenues for the Expense Month.

2. Monthly Environmental Surcharge Gross Revenue Requirement, E(m)

E(m) = CRR - BRR

Where:

CRR = Current Period Revenue Requirement for the Expense Month.
BRR = Base Period Revenue Requirement.

3. Base Period Revenue Requirement, BRR

BRR = The Following Monthly Amounts:

Billing Month	Base Net Environmental Costs
JANUARY	$ 2,531,784
FEBRUARY	3,003,995
MARCH	2,845,066
APRIL	2,095,535
MAY	1,514,859
JUNE	1,913,578
JULY	2,818,212
AUGUST	2,342,883
SEPTEMBER	2,852,305
OCTOBER	2,181,975
NOVEMBER	2,598,522
DECEMBER	1,407,969
	$28,106,683

4. Current Period Revenue Requirement, CRR

$$CRR=[((RB_{KP(C)}) (ROR_{KP(C)})/12) + OE_{KP(C)} + (((RB_{IM(C)}) (ROR_{IM(C)})/12) + OE_{IM(C)}) (.15) - AS]$$

Where:

RB_{KP(C)} = Environmental Compliance Rate Base for Big Sandy.
ROR_{KP(C)} = Annual Rate of Return on Big Sandy Rate Base; Annual Rate divided by 12 to restate to a Monthly Rate of Return.
OE_{KP(C)} = Monthly Pollution Control Operating Expenses for Big Sandy.
RB_{IM(C)} = Environmental Compliance Rate Base for Rockport.
ROR_{IM(C)} = Annual Rate of Return on Rockport Rate Base; Annual Rate divided by 12 to restate to a Monthly Rate of Return.
OE_{IM(C)} = Monthly Pollution Control Operating Expenses for Rockport.
AS = Net proceeds from the sale of SO₂ emission allowances, ERCs, and NO_x emission allowances, reflected in the month of receipt. The SO₂ allowance sales can be from either EPA Auctions or the AEP Interim Allowance Agreement Allocations.

“KP(C)” identifies components from the Big Sandy Units – Current Period, and “IM(C)” identifies components from the Indiana Michigan Power Company’s Rockport Units – Current Period.

The Rate Base for both Kentucky Power and Rockport should reflect the current costs associated with the 1997 Plan, the 2003 Plan and the 2005 Plan. The Rate Base for Kentucky Power should also include a cash working capital allowance based on the 1/8 formula approach, due to the inclusion of Kentucky Power’s accounts receivable financing in the capital structure and weighted average cost of capital. The Operating Expenses for both Kentucky Power and Rockport should reflect the current operating expenses associated with the 1997 Plan, the 2003 Plan and the 2005 Plan.

The Rate of Return for Kentucky Power is the weighted average cost of capital as authorized by the Commission in Case No. 2005-00341.

The Rate of Return for Rockport should reflect the requirements of the Rockport Unit Power Agreement. Net Proceeds from the sale of emission allowances and ERCs that reflect net gains will be a reduction to the Current Period Revenue Requirement, while net losses will be an increase. The Current Period Revenue Requirement will reflect the balances and expenses as of the Expense Month of the filing.

5. Environmental costs “E” shall be the Company’s costs of compliance with the Clean Air Act and those environmental requirements that apply to coal combustion wastes and by-products, as follows:

- (a) cost associated with Continuous Emission Monitors (CEMS)
- (b) costs associated with the terms of the Rockport Unit Power Agreement
- (c) the Company’s share of the pool capacity costs associated with Gavin scrubber(s)
- (d) return on SO₂ allowance inventory

Looking back

Looking from the top of the hill at the old farmhouse now falling down, where there was love, caring and devotion, children reared, taught to survive the hardships and still love each other. Looking at the barn where the animals were housed, now with the roof almost gone, animals that did a lot of the work, provided food for themselves as well as the family, animals that were part of the food on the table, and provided a few pennies for other things needed.

I wonder, could we survive? Or would we grow weary, despondent, disappointed, and angry at the hardship and the world, and run away from our responsibilities?

I'll answer my own question. I think only a very few today would survive and grow stronger and instill this hardness in their children.

It was a break-in along the lines of Goldilocks and the three bears!

A burglar broke into the Thomas Schimmel home in Michigan, rounded up the valuables, and ate a bowl of cereal.

Thomas discovered the theft when he came home. He called the police. They arrived, investigated and left. Then Schimmel decided to go to bed. But when he got to his bedroom, he found the burglar sleeping in his bed. He slept through the investigation.

She was born of Lelia Patrick May and Bert Denzil May in Netty, on Johnson Fork in Magoffin County, Kentucky, on April 17, 1926. She resided in White Oak, Kentucky, with her parents until her marriage to James Grover Frederick in West Liberty, Kentucky, on June 30, 1942.

Shortly after their marriage, they were parted by World War II. Upon the return of James Grover Frederick on January 17, 1946, they began their family life. Their first, born James Denzil, arrived on November 4, 1946, followed by Lance Barrett on November 2, 1947, Constance Elaine, February 11, 1949, Timothy Lee, January 27, 1952, and Danita Joleen and Juanita Coleen on March 19, 1955. She was preceded in death by her son, Timothy Lee, her parents, and both her sisters, Leberta May Potter and Linda Sharon May Hopkins.

She is survived by her husband of 64 years, James Grover Frederick; her five children, Dr. James Denzil Frederick and wife, Ginnie, of West Liberty, Kentucky, Lance Barrett Frederick and wife, Kathy, of West Liberty, Kentucky, Constance Elaine Frederick Crosby and husband, William Duncan Crosby, Jr., of McLean, Virginia, Danita Joleen Frederick of West Liberty, Kentucky, Juanita Coleen Frederick Kegley and husband, Grady of West Liberty, Kentucky; nine grandchildren, Jason Clark Frederick, Lance Todd Frederick, Dr. James Brian Frederick, Chadwick Scott Frederick, William Duncan Crosby III, Lelia Margaret Crosby, Matthew Daniel Frederick, Cassandra Coleen Frederick, Amanda Joleen Frederick; eight great-grandchildren, Lance, Jaycea, Leandra, Sandra, Jenna, Cade, Ainsley, and Jon Cody; one claimed grandson, Dr. Jody Prather, and a host of nieces and nephews.

They have made the Frederick and May Lumber and Construction Company an institution in Eastern Kentucky. . . They have been a great force for good. And in doing so, they have been a one-of-a-kind couple who have built a business empire unlikely to be duplicated in the future."

Resolutions of Respect

In Memory of Sewell Smith who died July 3, 2006.

Death has again entered our Chapter Hall and called to the Eternal Home a dear member, who has completed faithful labor here in ministering to the cry of the orphan, to the call of want and to the piteous wail of sorrow, and as a recompense has received the welcome plaudit, "well done" from the Great Master.

And Whereas, the loving Father has called our beloved and respected member home and having been a true and faithful member of our Order, therefore be it resolved that Elkfork Chapter No. 561 Order of the Eastern Star of Elkfork, Ky. in testimony of its loss, drape its charter in mourning for thirty days, and that we tender to the family our sincere condolence in their deep affliction and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family.

Jerry Haney,
Joyce Ferguson,
Wanda Barker,
Committee

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Judy Kidd would like to express our sincere appreciation to everyone who touched our lives during this difficult time. Thank you for your kind words, prayers, flowers, food, cards, gifts and especially taking the time to visit. The comfort provided by the staff at St. Claire was deeply appreciated. We would also like to extend a special thanks to Brother Victor Mabry and Charles and Carolyn Clark and Northcutt and Son Home for Funerals for the beautiful service. (pd)

A PRAYER FOR PEACE

Oh, God our help in ages last, our hope in years to be, Look down upon this troubled world and see our need of thee. For in this age of unrest, with violence all around we need thy hand to lead us to higher, safer ground, without thy help and counsel we are helpless to restore and safety and security in our hearts and homes once more, and give us strength and courage to be honorable and true and to place our trust implicitly in unseen things and you. Keep us kind and humble and fill our hearts with love, which in the selfish, greedy world man has so little of. Forgive our transgressions and help us find the way to a better world for everyone where man is in peace each day. (Submitted by Alpha Clevenger)

IN MEMORIAM

Written In Loving Memory Of Mom, Louella Ferguson

Oh I tried so hard to tell you that I love you so But you know I couldn't tell you long before I was called to go I'm so glad that you fed me, and held the cup so I could drink And I'm glad you called the nurse, and got me something for my pain

Oh I tried so hard to tell you, but the words I could not say That you'd no longer need to feed me, I hear the call to go away Now wipe them tears from your eyes, for I'll be dining beyond the skies I'll be served by Christ The King, and I'll talk, I'll laugh, and I'll sing

I tried so hard to thank you Tim, for the treatments when I was choking I thanked my father up above for all your visits, and all your love I thanked him for my doctor, nurses, and aides I never meant to be a burden for anybody to lift my weight

I thanked him for Leora as she rubbed my aching bones God will richly bless you, He's looking down from his throne I thanked Him for the cooks that fixed me good things to eat I thanked Him for each visitor, if they just walked in off the street

I thanked Him for Joe, he kept my glasses fixed so I could see And to keep me cool, he put in a brand new ac I thanked Him for Billy, he made my Sundays not seem so long And he made me laugh when he sang our little song

I thanked him for each sermon, prayer, singers, and song Oh I'll be singing with you when we gather round that throne I thanked Him for the gifts you provided for each game I can't thank you all, but Jesus knows you all by name... Written by Lula M. Hankins

In Loving Memory Of Oddis Harold "Skip" Baldwin Oct. 28, 1944 • Aug. 4, 2005

God saw he was getting tired, And a cure was not to be, So He put His arms around him, And whispered, Come with me." With tearful eyes we watched him suffer, And saw him fade away.

Although we loved him dearly, We could not make him stay. A golden heart stopped beating, Hard working hands to rest. God broke our hearts to prove to us, He only takes the Best! Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by his wife, Phyllis Baldwin C-8-3-2t pd (Pub. Aug. 3, 2006)

Hope for a Tree

A tree is reassuring. Withstanding the summer heat and the cold of winter, buffeted by countless storms, it stands firm. It is a survivor, towering over time, its branches spiraling in space. Though assaulted by the elements, a tree will survive provided its roots remain strong. If a tree's roots are grounded in fertile soil, they will bring life to the entire length of its structure. Apparently, God made provisions for the tree.

Likewise, God made provisions for our survival. If our roots are grounded in His Word, we too shall tower over life's tempests. Romans 11:16 assures us, "...if the root is holy, so are the branches."

Root your life in God as you worship each week. There is hope for a tree. There is hope for you.

Forest plans upheld for the Daniel Boone Natl. Forest

The USDA Forest Service's Washington office recently issued its decisions on several appeals of revised land and resource management plans in the southern region.

The decisions affirmed the regional forester's approval of management direction for the national forests of Chattahoochee-Oconee in Georgia, Cherokee in Tennessee, Daniel Boone in Kentucky, Sumter in South Carolina, Jefferson in Virginia, as well as the national forests in Alabama.

"We are pleased the plans were affirmed, and we are excited about implementing the natural resource management direction these documents provide," Regional Forester Chuck Myers said.

The five Southern Appalachian national forests (Chattahoochee-Oconee, Cherokee, Sumter, Jefferson and national forests in Alabama) plans were revised in January 2004. The Daniel Boone's plan was revised in April 2004.

Forest Plans Upheld
The plans for the national forests in Alabama, the Chattahoochee-Oconee and Cherokee each received five appeals; the Jefferson and Sumter

Twenty-Six

By Sherry Bailey

July 27 — Happy birthday to my Aunt Jan in Yucaipa, California. I won't tell everyone how young she is, but she's at least forty-nine and holding a few (quite a few). Aunt J, I love you and appreciate all the times you've been there for me. Please forgive me for disappointing you sometimes. I'm not perfect, but I'm glad you love me anyway. Thank you for the clothes you used to send me from California when I was growing up. They were so very appreciated (and needed). You may feel forgotten sometimes, but you are not forgotten. You are loved and appreciated. I'll try to do a little better in showing it in the future. I don't know WHAT I will do when you're gone. You are the one I can still call and ask things about our ancestors and things that happened years ago.

I was sorry to hear about the death of Mother's classmate, Joe Motley, of Ezel. I'd like to extend my condolences to his family and friends.

I called and talked to Aubrey (Orbra) Carpenter to make sure his wife, Nell (also Mother's classmate) knew about Joe's death. Nellavene's health is declining, but Aubrey sounded like he is doing well. He's still raising his garden.

I also speak (quite often) to Louise Wilson of Maytown, who I always lovingly refer to as "Aunt Louise." I was so sorry to learn that you have been under the weather lately. I would like to just put my arms around you and squeeze you until all the pain goes away, but only God can do that. I want so much for God to totally heal the cancer, and restore everything that the radiation treatments destroyed. Aunt Louise, you are such a shining light in a dark, dark world. I'm so thankful that you have always loved me and been such a good friend to mother and me. You are a very special person in my life and I'm very thankful that God loved me enough to place a special person like you in my life.

Noberta and Diana Gonzalez and their grandchildren, Nina Gonzalez and Tay Kelly of Forestville, Maryland, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sandford last week. Alesha and Jimmy Ballard visited one day while they were there. The Gonzalez family and the Sandfords went to Morgantown, W.Va. and spent Tuesday night with friends, returning to the Sandfords' home on Wednesday. Kathy Sandford is scheduled for an endoscopy Thursday, August 3. Hope it turns out okay.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Williams' son, Michael, played on the nine and ten year-old all-star baseball team and their team won the District 7 championship. Congratulations team!

July 31 — Spoke to Wes Tobias this morning. He said Madison has been feeling pretty bad for the last few days. She was unable to do the interview with Channel 18 news out of Lexington. She's had to have some blood transfusions and is very weak and pale. Hang in there, Madison! While the chemo kills the 'bad guys' (bad cells), it also kills some 'good guys,' but the good cells are supposed to regenerate themselves, so hopefully you will be feeling better as soon as this round of chemo is over.

I know I mentioned this last week, but my sister's dog is still missing. It is a large, black, long-haired dog whose name is Pup. If anyone has seen Pup in the last couple weeks (around 772 or Kellacey), please call 725-5952 or 725-5200.

I have been wondering how Lula Carpenter is feeling. Lula, I will try to stop and see you soon. Every time I go past your trailer, it seems I'm always in a hurry, running here or there. I plan to stop and visit you soon.

If anyone has any news for the Twenty-Six news column, please call me at 725-5200.

Blue Mtn. Grass to perform in W. Liberty Saturday

Mike Havens and Blue Mountain Grass will be entertaining at the 4th Annual Customer Appreciation Day celebration at Citizens Bank, on Prestonsburg Street, in West Liberty, Saturday, Aug. 5. The event will begin at 10 a.m. and continue through 2 p.m. with music beginning at noon.

Havens and his band were well received at the eleventh annual Old Mill Bluegrass Festival last month. They have performed at the Cumberland Mountain Bluegrass and Gospel Festival, at Jenkins, Ky., and other out-of-town events since that time.

The release of a second CD entitled "Mike Havens, Window Of My Mind", came in June of this year, and the response to the CD has been overwhelming. Mike, who gives all credit to the Good Master for his song writing talents, wrote six of the songs on the CD. He and his son, Lincoln, co-wrote two selections, and Irene Johnson, of the Beattyville area, along with Mr. Havens, penned another of the selections.

Mike, who sings lead and plays rhythm guitar, is very appreciative of the talented musicians who helped make this endeavor a "dream come true". Accompanying him on the CD are Debi Horton, vocals and fiddle; Lenny Centers, lead guitar; Roy Lee Centers, Jr., banjo and dobro; Mitch Bentley, bass; Shirley Siem, fiddle; and David Kazee, vocals. "Without the help and support of these wonderful musicians, Window Of My Mind would not have come to life", says Havens. "Many thanks to a great group of musicians."

Band members who will be performing with Mike on Saturday will include Debi, Lenny and son, Roy Lee, (who are the son and grandson of the late, great Roy Lee Centers). Also joining the group will be a good friend and neighbor, Danny Joe Gevedon, who will play upright bass.

Be sure to come by and visit with everyone at Citizens Bank and enjoy the fine sound of Mike Havens and Blue Mountain Grass.

The Mystery Of The Harvest

Four young men sit by the bedside of their dying father. The old man, with his last breath, tells them there is a huge treasure buried in the family fields. The sons crowd around him crying, "Where, where?" But it's too late. The day after the funeral and for many days to come, the young men go with their picks and shovels and turn the soil, digging deeply into the ground from one end of the field to the other. They find nothing and, bitterly disappointed, abandon the search.

The next season the farm has its best harvest ever.

July 31--Hi everyone.

Hope everyone is feeling better. To all shutins--hope and pray for your recovery.

To my brother and sister-in-law, Dorman and Nell Nipper, hope you both are feeling better. Nell went to Lexington to see her doctor. She got a good report. Thank God for that.

Hope Mack Vest is feeling better. He has been real sick for a long time. He is a real good neighbor. Hello to his daughter, Pam. She is such a sweet girl.

To all who have lost loved ones--you have all our prayers and love.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Tiffany Michelle Bradley, who died in a four-wheeler accident recently. You have our love and prayers. Michelle and our granddaughter, Ashley, were best friends. May God bless and be with you in your time of sorrow.

Sympathy is also extended to the Maudy Howard Stevens family. We were so sorry to hear of her passing. We've known Maudy for years. She is such a nice lady. She is a sister to my sister-in-law, Nell Nipper. May god bless you all. We know what it is to lose someone. We lost our grandson, Chris Manning, whom we loved so well, recently. He was like a son to me. He talked to me on the phone on Saturday and was gone on Monday. We miss him so much, but our loss is Heaven's gain.

We do not know when our time is coming, but it is coming, so be ready when it comes. Don't put it off. We don't have a promise of the next moment.

We have a niece in Ohio that is bad off. She is Bert Nipper's daughter, Maureen. We went to see her over the weekend. She was a big girl, but only weighs 83 pounds now. Get well wishes to her.

We also visited with my sister, Marie Jessie, while in Ohio. We went up near Middletown to a real big flea market. Had a good day together.

Our family was in Tennessee last week on vacation. Those making the trip besides Virgil and I were Mr. and Mrs. Brian Ferguson, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Keeton and Deanna, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Williams and Alex, Stephanie, Marty and children, Gail and Kayla. We had a good vacation. I'm back home working in my garden now.

Shelby spent the night last night with us. She is our baby. We love her so much. Justin also visited us on Sunday. He is our baby, too.

We hope Hester Caskey, of West Liberty, is feeling better. I think of you often, Hester. You have my love.

To Virgil's brothers, Bill and Charlie Ferguson, hope you both are feeling better. We love you all.

To Richard Simpson and his wife, of Lee City, we miss you all. We'll be there in church with you all soon. We love your church. You have a good one. We've been real busy.

To Mr. and Mrs. Buford Hampton, we never here from you all any more. We haven't forgot you. Hope you all are better. Call us some time. May God bless everyone until next time.

To Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Rowland, of Ezel, we want to thank you all for all your thoughtfulness. I talked to Wilma on the phone. She is a sweet person to talk to. She was my children's teacher at Ezel School a long time ago. She was a good one. Thanks for everything.

The Education Of An Engineer

I started my adult life as a civil engineer. So, I said, I must have an explanation for a thing, then I would degrade it and say it was mere superstition. I was young, about 24, and I thought I knew everything. It took me 25 more years to become a wiser human being — to understand life, the mystery of life. Now I know that there are many things beyond my understanding. So as I start my day I often remind myself that I do not know all the meaning of all these things, or of others that shape my life.

Mountain Parkway work begins in Wolfe this week

Work on sector from Powell County line to Campton starts this wk.

JACKSON, Ky, July 31—The Kentucky Transportation Cabinet is working to upgrade the highway network in Wolfe County in the Department of Highways District 10. A road improvement contract for more than $2.3 million for the Mountain Parkway has been approved by the cabinet.

Preliminary work will begin this week on the project, which will affect traffic between Slade and Campton. Motorists will experience temporary lane closures as the work gets underway.

The contract calls for resurfacing seven miles of the four-lane highway, from the Powell-Wolfe county line at mile marker 36 to Exit 43 near Campton. Hinkle Contracting Corp. was awarded the low-bid contract for $2,341,833.63. The work is scheduled to be completed by Sept. 30.

For the next several weeks, drivers will notice lane closures. The actual paving work is not expected to begin for another couple of weeks, but the Mountain Parkway will be restricted to one lane in each direction while the preliminary work and resurfacing are underway. Motorists may experience short delays during the project.

Construction activities are scheduled on a tentative basis and are subject to change depending on weather conditions. Motorists are asked to "Drive Smart" in work zones and be aware of workers and construction equipment when traveling in areas where projects are ongoing.

"This project furthers Governor Fletcher's commitments to providing the commonwealth with safe, dependable roads that lead to new jobs," said Transportation Secretary Bill Nighbert. "Through these projects, we are moving the state forward and providing greater opportunities for everyone who calls Kentucky home."

Complaint over prayer at Fivco senior centers erupts

A group of senior centers in rural northeastern Kentucky are changing their practice of praying before meals, after a complaint prompted them to ask whether people object. If so, then there will be no prayer.

The Fivco Area Development District, which serves Boyd, Carter, Greenup, Elliott and Lawrence counties, has ordered its area centers "to replace the traditional prayer before meals with a moment of silence, based on a complaint received by the state. . . The memo, sent to all centers overseen by Fivco, says only that the complaint came from 'an individual who feels he should not be subjected to the prayers of others,' and adds 'the same individual complained about music in the center.'" writes Cathie Shaffer of the Greenup County News-Times.

One solution offered by the Kentucky Division on Aging in Frankfort is that people wishing to pray arrive a half-hour before the planned meal service, and those only wanting to eat arrive a half-hour after the service starts. Greenup County Judge-Executive Bobby Carpenter, who also chairs the Fivco board, told Shaffer he sees no problem with prayer at the centers.

All three centers in the Fivco area "have adopted a new, non-official policy regarding prayer. Before a pre-meal blessing is offered, someone stands up and asks if there are objections. If no one speaks up, an oral prayer is given. If someone does object — which hasn't happened yet — a moment of silence will be observed instead," the News-Times reports.

Stanton woman dies after vehicle hits dump truck

A Stanton woman was killed Tuesday on U.S. 460 in Frenchburg when her vehicle collided with a dump truck.

Melissa Anderson, 19, was traveling west on U.S. 460 in Frenchburg at 9:30 a.m. when her 1984 Chevrolet S-10 crossed the center line into the eastbound lane and struck a 1997 International dump truck operated by Paul Spencer.

Police said Anderson's vehicle came to rest on the westbound shoulder, while Spencer's vehicle rolled over several times before resting on the driver's side door on the eastbound shoulder.

Menifee County Coroner David Perry pronounced Anderson dead at the scene. Spencer was transported to Mary Chiles Hospital in Mt. Sterling, where he was treated for injuries.

OUR CHERISHED FLAG

By Montgomery

Oh, flag of a resolute nation;
Oh flag of the strong and free,
The cherished of true-hearted million,
We hallow thy colors three!
Three proud floating emblems of glory,
Our guide for the coming time;
The red, white and blue in their beauty —
Love gives thema meaning sublime.
Thy red is the deep crimson life-stream
Which flowed on the battle plain,
Redeeming our land from oppression,
And leaving no servile stain.
Thy white is a proud people's honor,
Kept spotless and clear as light;
A pledge of unflinching justice,
A symbol of truth and right.
Thy blue is our nation's endurance,
And points to the blue above;
The limitless, measureless azure,
A type of our Father's love.
Thy stars are God's witness of blessing,
And smile at the foeman's frown;
They sparkle and gleam in their splendor,
Bright gems in the great world's crown.

Wood working hard on Cougar offensive lineup

Henderson's position at QB still dependent on the health of Fannin

By David Patrick

Any coach will tell you that defense wins games, but to win those games, you've also got to put points on the board. Cougar Coach Randy Wood is investing many hours in his offense this summer, trying to find the right combination that can stick the ball in the end zone. Quarterbacks, receivers, slot backs, and the offensive line—finding the right fit for the position is the key.

"We're doing okay at this point," Wood said on Monday. "We've still got a ways to go, but I have seen improvement to some degree."

And while the improvement may be gradual, it is coming. John Robert Henderson continues to get reps at quarterback as the Cougar camp patiently awaits word on the health of Andy Fannin. Henderson has been throwing to a trio of split ends—Josh Blevins, Zach Burton, and David Downey.

"Josh is small but he's a hard worker," said Wood. "He's fundamentally sound and he'll do what you ask. David is one of our best athletes. He gets to the ball and has good hands."

As for Burton, Wood says he's counting on the senior for both big plays and leadership. And the coach believes Burton has the ability to get it done.

"Zach has good size and is athletic," said Wood. "It concerns me some that he hasn't played since middle school and I don't know how physical he'll be. But he has looked good in practice and we need him to play well."

Wood will also need big plays from slot backs. Geordan Conn and Andrew "Banjo" Lewis will get their first significant varsity minutes of their young careers this season. They'll play alongside senior Wes Montgomery, who is likely the team's most dangerous scoring threat. The coach is counting on fullback Brandon Ward to put points on the board as well. With news coming Monday that senior Derrick Young has elected not to play, Ward should get all the carries he wants and then some.

"We have guys with the ability," said Wood. "But we'll have to wait and see how they perform and react in game situations."

The coach will get his first glimpse this weekend with a Saturday scrimmage at South Floyd.

Fannin waits patiently for green light begin throwing

Junior quarterback scheduled for MRI on shoulder today

By David Patrick

He's waited and waited—and then waited some more. Perhaps no one in all of Morgan County has the patience of Andy Fannin. After missing the entire baseball season due to a shoulder injury that required surgery, Fannin continues to wait for the go-ahead to throw a football. In fact, it's been over four months since Fannin has been able to throw any kind of ball. And his patience is wearing thin.

"I just want to be able to get out there with everyone," said Fannin. "I'm ready to throw anything at this point."

Fannin's ability to throw will likely hinge on a trip to Lexington today (Thursday) and a visit with Dr. Ben Kibler. The shoulder specialist will have Andy undergo another MRI. Fannin says although the shoulder seems to be getting stronger, the pain is still present. And that's a cause for concern.

"I know I feel better, but there's still pain in there," said Fannin. "If the doctor tells me everything is all right, I'll start to throw and hopefully work the pain out. I just need to know where I stand."

Fannin says the hardest part is not knowing whether the pain he feels has anything to do with his previous injury. He's confident today's MRI will provide the answer.

"The biggest part will be getting over the psychological part," said the junior quarterback. "Again, the stronger my shoulder feels the more it hurts. I just want to know I'm going to be okay."

A healthy Fannin would provide the Cougars with one of the region's most potent throwing arms. Fannin's ability to throw the ball downfield 50 to 80 yards gives the offense a whole new dimension. But it's a dimension that depends on an all-important MRI some 90 miles away.

Deadline to sign up for ag grants is Friday, Aug. 11

Deadline is fast approaching for farmers wishing to participate in the last round of Ag Grants. The postmark deadline is Aug. 11, 2006. Grants to be offered include cattle handling facilities, goat/sheep diversification, livestock fencing and hay storage.

A new menu application format will be used. Farmers will rank one through four the programs that they are most interesting in receiving. Due to limited funds, applications will be ranked to fund the most farmers possible. If applicants have received funds for fencing or hay storage in the last 18 months, they will not be eligible again for these programs, but are eligible for cattle handling facilities and goat/sheep diversification.

Grant amounts for each program will vary, but still must be matched dollar for dollar on a cost share basis. For example, if you are approved for $1,000 in funding, you must spend $2,000 with documented receipts to be reimbursed $1,000. It is roughly estimated that grants for hay storage will be $3,500 and $1,500 each for the cattle handling, goat/sheep and fencing programs. All projects must fall within the state guidelines adopted by the Morgan County Agricultural Development Council as outlined in the application packet.

Applications can be found at the Morgan County extension office (110 Court St.), the Morgan County judge executive's office (450 Prestonsburg St.), and mailed to the county judge's office at 450 Prestonsburg St., West Liberty, KY 41472. Applications must be fully completed and a farm serial number must be supplied. Hand delivered applications will not be accepted. Delivery confirmation is highly encouraged.

Mandatory educational meetings will be offered by the extension service. The dates of these meetings will be announced in the approval letter. The council will meet monthly September through December on the second Tuesday to approve receipts.

Payment from the Morgan County Fiscal Court, which is serving as the administering agency, will be made within 30 days of notification from the council. Receipts must be submitted by Dec. 8, 2006, for reimbursement. Reimbursement will not be made until all required report forms are completed.

All grants are considered income and an IRS form 1099 will be issued by Jan. 31, 2007. Receipts will be accepted from Jan. 1 of this year. No additional programs are expected to be offered until July 2007.

SIXTH SENSE

I hear words unspoken and scream out to an empty sky.
I cry tears that never leave my eyes of things I've never seen.
I smell the fragrance of your silky skin, your perfume fills the air.

I feel you and never touch you.
Your taste is bitter sweet.
The salt of the earth and the sweetness of honey.

My five senses tell me I'm alive, but my sixth sense warns me that Death is but an extension of life—without the five senses.

Vets celebration this wkend will be state's largest ever

The largest celebration of all Kentucky veterans ever held in this state is scheduled this week at Battlefield Civil War Park, five miles south of Richmond in Madison County. It will be held Thursday, 3 August, through Sunday, 6 August. There is no admission charge for attendance on all four days; however, there will be a parking fee. No limit to the number of people in one vehicle.

The celebration is being put together in honor of all veterans of Kentucky, including those currently serving.

On the military side of the celebration, Governor Ernie Fletcher will be at the opening ceremony to welcome everyone. Former Miss America Heather French will sing and speak on behalf of all Disabled Veterans. One of Kentucky's own Tuskegee Airmen will be honored by the governor.

The award winning Pulaski County Junior ROTC high school students will provide a color guard and drill team presentation. Six of the living Medal of Honor recipients, including Ernie West from Kentucky, will be present and will be honored. Wayne O. Smith, a former Vietnam POW from Madison County, will be present to relate his five year experience in Hanoi with Sen. John McCain. A Vietnam Memorial Service will be held with the reading of all 1,050 names of those Kentuckians killed in Vietnam.

The traveling Vietnam Wall will be on display with it's own traveling museum. There will be sky diving by the Army's 82nd Airborne Division. And an air show will be presented by the Trojan Horsemen T-28 Warbirds and there will be flyovers by the Air Force's B-52 bomber and the Navy's T-45 trainer.

Entertainment will be provided by the popular country group, Confederate Railroad, on Friday night and award winning country artist Aaron Tippin will perform on Saturday night. In addition, Janie Fricke a member of the Grand Ole Opry, will perform on Saturday afternoon. Lots of local groups and singers from around the central Kentucky area will also entertain during activities Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Also featured will be static displays of Army vehicles and helicopters along with the renowned "Standing Proud Truck." This truck has been seen on the world wide web and is being updated daily with the names of those who have been killed in the current Iraqi war. This is a great tribute to all those brave men and women who have given the supreme sacrifice.

In order to make the celebration free, the planning committee is accepting contributions from companies/corporations and city/county governments willing to provide what they can afford. Planners welcome any company or government office to join in the sponsorship of this event. Individual contributions are also welcome. Each donation is tax exempt and you will receive a statement of such from the sponsoring agency for the celebration, VFW Post 7098 of Richmond, Ky.

For information about how to donate and to see what all will be happening in August, visit www.kentuckyveteranswelcomhome.com or call Emerson McAfee at 859-986-4362 or email at emcafee@alltel.net

Man is ordered to remove cockfighting 'arena,' pay $430,000

A Kentucky man who hosted an illegal cockfight in April 2005 is being ordered to dismantle the operation and give up the nearly $430,000 that state police seized during a raid that received national attention.

Marvin Watkins of Montgomery County "built an elaborate 700-seat arena, complete with stadium seats, souvenirs and a cafeteria, on his Jeffersonville farm in 1992," writes Emily Yahr of the Lexington Herald-Leader. The 500-plus people present for the 2005 event hailed from several states, and a judge dropped animal cruelty charges filed against most of them because of confusing state laws.

How Charitable Are You? Generosity is rooted in character – not bank accounts – and is limited only by our perspective. Writer James Agee illustrates this well in Let Us Now Praise Famous Men, in which he recounts one of his experiences during the Great Depression.

Agee found an impoverished elderly woman in the hollows of Appalachia. She was living in a tiny shack with dirt floors, no heat, and no plumbing. Agee asked the woman, “What would you do if someone came along and gave you some money to help you out?”

The old lady rocked in her chair and shook her head. “I guess I’d give it to the poor.”

Haney suffered an injury to his right hand requiring medical treatment.

The suspect, Joseph Minix, 19, of Revis Road, who was uninjured, was charged with fleeing or evading police 2nd degree and resisting arrest. He was later served with arrest warrants charging him with theft and burglary in connection with the burglary of the Ross residence. Other charges are pending.

According to reports, Ross, a manager at West Liberty Save-A-Lot, returned home from work Friday night to discover a man exiting her home through a window. Missing from the residence was a large quantity of jewelry and other items, including a satellite radio, and a number of unused personal checks.

A search by State Police and Sheriff's deputies for the suspect, who fled on foot, was unsuccessful.

West Liberty police said most of the items believed to have been taken during the burglary were recovered from Minix's person following his arrest.

Minix was also wanted by State Police in connection with the theft of a firearm in Clark County.

The Perfect Present The great maestro Arturo Toscanini was almost as well-known for his ferocious temper as for his outstanding musicianship. When members of his orchestra played badly, he would pick up anything in sight and hurl it to the floor.

During one rehearsal, a flat note caused the genius to grab his valuable watch and smash it beyond repair.

Shortly afterward, he received from his devoted musicians a velvet-lined box containing two watches — one a beautiful gold timepiece, the other a cheap one on which was inscribed, “For rehearsal only.”

HISTORICAL SKETCHES

by Joe Nickell

LEGERDEMAIN. The surviving 1874 diary of S.M. Testerman – a Morgan County resident who died trying to save a drowning man (see acknowledgments) – has many interesting references. One is to a traveling performer of magic tricks who put on a show in Morgan or Wolfe County in that year.

The date was Dec. 9, a Wednesday, and Testerman wrote:

“At night I attended a Legerdmain exhibition given by Prof. Sage at James Lacey’s. Many very amusing and perplexing tricks were performed by the professor. A very fine audience was present.”

“Legerdmain” is from the French term for “sleight of hand,” but the work refers to any type of magic trickery. As to “Prof. Sage,” “Professor” was a fashionable title, adopted by magicians, hypnotists and others, and used to suggest a scientific background. The second part of the name, “Sage,” sounds equally bogus, meaning, as it does, one distinguished by wisdom. The name is obviously a typical magicians stage name of the period, and the man’s actual identity remains unknown.

We also know nothing about his act, but we can make some educated guesses. Obviously, he would not have been performing large illusions, no doubt traveling with only small apparatus.

A book published about this time, in 1876, gives a good idea of the legerdmain of the period. Written by “Professor Hoffmann (real name Angelo Lewis), Modern Magic teaches many tricks with such familiar objects as cards, coins, handkerchiefs, watches and rings.

A typical trick from Modern Magic features a borrowed coin that is marked for identification and wrapped in a handkerchief. A ball of wool yarn is next brought forward and placed in a clear goblet. With a pass of the magician’s wand (or some other hocus-pocus), the coin disappears from the handkerchief. Then a

An example of Victorian-era legerdmain was this ball-and-vice trick as illustrated in Modern Magic in 1876. (The ball appeared and disappeared by means of a hollow shell, made to look like a ball, that was alternately hidden in the top of the vase or shown as the actual ball in the bottom.)

spectator is invited to take the end of the yarn and unwind the ball, whereupon the marked coin is found on the inside!

In a different version of the trick, the coin appears in a nest of boxes. (I performed that feat as a young magician in the Toronto schools in the early 1970s.)

“Prof. Sage” probably featured similar tricks, possibly including such standards as “The Cut String Restored” and “The Cups and Balls” in which the balls variously appear and disappear from under three cups – a forerunner of the old con, the shell game).

(I have also performed these classic effects. My late father, J. Wendell Nickell, was a talented amateur magician, and I grew up with magic, sometimes performing in my grandparents’ parlor. Once, when Dad put on a magic show at the hold high school gymnasium for an “amateur night,” he brought me on stage to do a single trick I had practiced and practiced.)

The good professor could easily travel with such small items, contained in a saddlebag, for example. He could even have relied on borrowed items, or, on the other hand, he might have had such special trick apparatus as an “Inexhaustible Box” (which was periodically shown empty but from which the prestidigitator drew a variety of silks, bonbons and other items – even a full glass of water.)

A common apparatus trick of the time was the ball-and-vice feat, such as shown in the accompanying illustration from Modern Magic. (It can still be found in today’s magic sets, although molded of plastic rather than turned from boxwood.)

Whatever were the particular tricks performed by Prof. Sage, they were very likely standard effects and – as described by S.M. Testerman in his diary – “amusing and perplexing.”

Vehicle heat life-threatening; tips for preventing heat sickness, etc.

It is summertime, and so far this year across the United States, there have been at least seven deaths of small children after being left inside a vehicle that quickly turned into a hot oven.

In 2005, there were 42 child fatalities due to hyperthermia after being left in hot cars, trucks, vans, and SUVs. Some of these deaths occurred on days with relatively mild temperatures of less than 75 degrees.

Since 1998, there have been at least 290 of these needless tragedies. There are unknown amounts of pet deaths or of heat stroke with the elderly brought on by being left in hot cars as those statistics are not tracked.

Several university, medical and governmental studies have produced some sobering statistics. Heatstroke occurs when the core body temperature reaches 104 degrees F. A core body temperature of 107 degrees F is considered lethal. Children's thermoregulatory systems are not as efficient as an adult's and their bodies warm at a rate three to five times faster than an adult's. Likewise, the elderly lose their ability to regulate heat and will succumb quickly to high temperatures.

In studies of temperature increases within an enclosed vehicle, the average temperature increase was 19 degrees above the outside ambient temperature within 10 minutes elapsed time. In 20 minutes, there was a 29 degree increase. Thirty minutes equaled a 34 degree increase, and after 60 minutes, the average increase was 43 degrees.

In other words, 80 percent of the heat increase occurs within the first 30 minutes. Cracking the windows a few inches had very little effect, with the average total cooling effect of only 2.3 degrees. Interestingly, windows all the way down only reduce the overall heat increase by only 11 degrees in direct sunlight. Cars with dark interiors have a higher temperature climb than those with light colored interiors. Higher humidity levels compound the extreme heat levels by further reducing the body's natural ability to cool itself as evaporation of sweat slows.

On an average summer day of 85 degrees outside, within 10 minutes a parked car will rise to 108 degrees F. With 50 percent humidity, that equates to an equivalent temperature of 144 degrees F. With the windows all the way down, this 10 minute errand still translates into the inside car temperature of 97 degrees with a heat index for humidity creating an equivalent temperature of 110 degrees F. And that is within 10 minutes.

How long does it take to go inside a grocery store to pick up a loaf of bread and a gallon of milk, pay and return to the car? Chances are, more than 10 minutes will elapse for this "brief" errand. Within 60 minutes, the internal temperature of this parked car will reach 128 degrees, and with the heat index factored in, the equivalent interior temperature of the parked car reaches an astounding 238 degrees! Water will boil at 212 degrees!

Even on relatively "cool" days when the outside ambient temperature is 72 degrees, the internal vehicle temperature will increase to 117 degrees F within 60 minutes for a vehicle parked in the sun. Eighty percent of that increase occurs within the first 30 minutes.

Heat illness is a condition that is divided into three phases. The mildest form is heat stress when the body is reaching a level of serious discomfort and a physiological strain, but no real lasting effect.

The second phase is heat exhaustion which is classified as a mild to moderate illness associated with dehydration and a core body temperature ranging from 98.6 to 104 degrees F. Symptoms of heat exhaustion include intense thirst, weakness, discomfort, anxiety, dizziness, fainting, and headache.

Finally, heat stroke is the third and final stage of heat illness. Heat stroke is a life-threatening illness characterized by an elevated core body temperature in excess of 104 degrees F with central nervous system dysfunction resulting in delirium, convulsions, coma, and death. Immediate medical attention is required.

Studies have indicated various reasons people have given for leaving children unattended in parked cars. In an analysis of child hyperthermia fatalities of 117 deaths between 1995 and 2002, the circumstances that led to the fatalities were examined. Researchers found that in 39 percent of the cases, the child was "forgotten" by the caregiver. Twenty-seven percent were because the child was playing in an unattended vehicle and the parents or caregiver was unaware of the danger. Twenty percent were intentionally left in the vehicle by an adult running a quick errand, and 14 percent were from unknown or unclear circumstances.

This summer, do not allow your loved ones to become a part of summer tragic statistic. Do not leave anything in a parked car that can be affected by the extreme heat. In addition to children, this includes pets, the elderly, or anyone who may have difficulty in leaving the car when the heat level becomes uncomfortable, such as a handicapped individual.

Even leaving a parked car with the motor and air conditioning running is not a wise option. Most condensers in car air-conditioning systems will not engage when the car is parked for more than just a few minutes. In addition to posing risk of children placing the car into gear, or inviting thieves to help themselves to your car, you will have increasingly hot air blow in by an increasingly ineffective air conditioning system.

Sweet hour of prayer, sweet hour of prayer, that calls me from a world of care...Whoever heard of an hour of prayer? How could that be a sweet hour? asked Bernice, cynically. No one, simply no one would spend an hour praying. If they did, they would need their heads examined. Bernice was adamant in her thoughts about prayer. She couldn't imagine anyone wanting to pray, especially to spend an hour in prayer. What would you pray about for an hour, she asked? Obviously she was interested even though she didn't want any part in it.

Speaking of praying for an hour, one might easily question how an hour could be spent in prayer. There are many things to consider in response to Bernice's question. How quickly does an hour pass when you are with someone you love? When you are carrying on a conversation that is endless as well as enlightening, you do not want to be interrupted. You want to spend each available minute with that person. You enjoy being with him or her.

How long should you pray? Dr. Andrew Murray said to begin with five minutes. That isn't very long is it? Sometimes how to pray becomes the issue. Where does one begin? What does one say? Praying can become a vital part of every day living. It can be looked upon with pleasure. It can also be a burden.

If we think about prayer as talking with our Heavenly Father, the time becomes a blessing. Talk to Him about the things on your heart that you cannot share with another person. Tell Him how you love Him. Read some Bible verses that would worship and praise Him. You will find this a wonderful experience and at the same time, you will become acquainted with some prayers in the Bible.

One can pray any time, at any place. A special time and place for prayer is precious, even though it is not necessary. Pray where and when you can. Pray for relatives, family needs, church or missionaries, interspersed with Bible verses. You will be amazed that you have spent a sweet hour in prayer. Try it some time.

vide medical help at little or no charge. Many times the benefits counselors became the place to turn when no other avenues were available.

Gateway's HCAP staff forged a relationship with a new non-profit in Lexington, which provides outpatient surgeries on Sundays free of charge to the uninsured and underinsured. Over 300 doctors and nurses are involved in this charitable effort. The Benefits Coordinators help the local patients fill out forms and get the necessary documentation. To date, two surgeries and the necessary follow-up care have been completed for Gateway clients completely free of charge and two more are on the schedule. Several other clients are completing their paperwork and applications. Without the diligence of Gateway HCAP staff, this referral system might never have happened.

With the demise of federal funding, in order to try and maintain HCAP services, Gateway Community Services made application to the Good Samaritan Foundation in Lexington for HCAP services in Bath, Morgan and Menifee counties. Gateway was funded with $50,000 from the foundation. However, that funding has been blocked by a dispute between the foundation and the Methodist Church in Kentucky.

Commented one Gateway client:

"Without this program, I would not have gone to the doctor to discover my medical problems. I would have continued to suffer as I have for four years because I cannot afford health insurance and did not qualify for Medicaid. HCAP helped me... And I am so grateful. This is a wonderful program, and I hope it continues to help other community members in need."

At the present time, Gateway still has a benefits counselor working in the program, located at the Gateway Outreach Office in Owingsville. Sandra Stevens will serve clients from Bath, Morgan or Menifee counties. She can be contacted at 606-674-2502. Other questions about the program can be directed to Debbie VanNorman, Gateway Coordinator of Community Initiatives, 859-414-1301.

Common Questions About Social Security

By Bernard O'Nan

Question: I have just found out that I am pregnant and my husband and I are starting to look at baby names. A friend said that Social Security has a large list of popular baby names online, and that it is available free. Is this true?

Answer: Yes. In fact, Social Security has just released the most popular baby names for 2005. The Social Security website not only lists the top 1,000 names for 2005, but can also provide a listing of popular baby names dating back to 1880. To view the lists, just visit the Social Security website at www.socialsecurity.gov.

Retirement

Question: Later this year, as soon as I reach age 62, I would like to take an early retirement. However, I have a 17-year-old son with Down Syndrome and wondered if he would be eligible for any Social Security benefits once I am retired and he is over 18?

Answer: If you are getting Social Security retirement benefits, some members of your family also can receive benefits. They include disabled children, even if they are age 18 or older, if they have a disability which began before age 22. For more information, you can visit the Social Security website at www.socialsecurity.gov. Or you can call Social Security's toll-free number at 1-800-772-1213 (TTY 1-800-325-0778) and ask for the publication, Benefits for Children with Disabilities.
